

MA in English Language
Teaching: Online

MA in English Language Teaching: Online

Teachers from all over the world can take this part-time Masters degree programme, which is studied entirely online. Developed collaboratively by the University of Southampton and the British Council, it offers postgraduate level study in key areas of current theory and practice in Applied Linguistics and English Language Teaching.

- This course makes use of the latest developments in technological design and is delivered by an experienced team of e-tutors through an online distance learning environment
- Students engage in online discussion and use interactive multimedia course materials including lectures and podcasts by internationally renowned staff from the University of Southampton
- Students have access to the University library and its stock of e-books and journals online
- The programme structure involves two years of taught assessed modules and a final semester spent undertaking research and writing a dissertation

For more information contact SouthamptonUniversityMasters@britishcouncil.org or visit www.southampton.ac.uk/ml/postgrad/ma_elt_online

Typical year 1 modules:

Principles of Communicative Language Teaching

Language Analysis for Teaching

Critical Appraisal of Language Teaching Methodologies

E-Learning for English Language Teaching

Typical year 2 modules:

Global Englishes

Second Language Learning

Discourse Analysis

Research Skills for Dissertation Study

The University of Southampton is a member of the prestigious Russell Group and is among the top 15 UK research universities, with a global reputation for leading-edge research and teaching.

